

APRIL FOOL'S DAY INFO HUNT

April Fool's Day is no joke in the Mendik Library! Here's an opportunity to be entered into a drawing to WIN research aids, study guides and cool study tools. No foolin'!

Complete this Info Hunt and submit your answer sheet by Thursday, April 4 at 5:00 PM to enter the drawing. The official raffle drum for completed entries is located at the Reference Desk in the Library or you can e-mail your answer sheet to reference@nyls.edu. The drawing will take place outside the library entrance on April 4 at 5:40 PM. Although you need not be present to win, those in attendance will receive a second raffle entry.

Absentee winners will be contacted by email.

When pranking can ruin your legal career...

When pranking can ruin your legal career...

Between 1991 and 2007, G.W. applied to the bar seven times. He passed the exam in February 2008, but the Standing Committee on Character and Fitness recommended he be denied admission for reasons that included his nine criminal convictions, one for pretending to rob a store, an April Fool's prank. What court ultimately denied Mr. W.'s application to the bar?

When pranking can ruin your legal career...

Between 1991 and 2007, G.W. applied to the bar seven times. He passed the exam in February 2008, but the Standing Committee on Character and Fitness recommended he be denied admission for reasons that included his nine criminal convictions, one for pretending to rob a store, an April Fool's prank. What court ultimately denied Mr. W.'s application to the bar?

Go to scholar.google.com:

When pranking can ruin your legal career...

Between 1991 and 2007, G.W. applied to the bar seven times. He passed the exam in February 2008, but the Standing Committee on Character and Fitness recommended he be denied admission for reasons that included his nine criminal convictions, one for pretending to rob a store, an April Fool's prank. What court ultimately denied Mr. W.'s application to the bar?

Go to scholar.google.com:

a) Type in 13 A.3d 194

When pranking can ruin your legal career...

Between 1991 and 2007, G.W. applied to the bar seven times. He passed the exam in February 2008, but the Standing Committee on Character and Fitness recommended he be denied admission for reasons that included his nine criminal convictions, one for pretending to rob a store, an April Fool's prank. What court ultimately denied Mr. W.'s application to the bar?

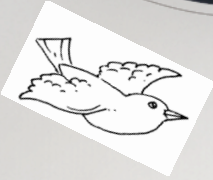

Go to scholar.google.com:

a) Type in 13 A.3d 194

b) Select the button for Legal documents and click Search

“Haha! April Fool’s!” isn’t a legal defense...

“Haha! April Fool’s!” isn’t a legal defense...

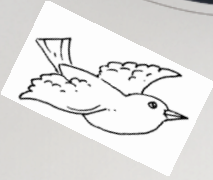

In Missouri in 1986, a defendant tried to convince the court that he confessed to a robbery he didn’t commit to play an April Fool’s joke on the police. What was the name of this clever fellow?

“Haha! April Fool’s!” isn’t a legal defense...

In Missouri in 1986, a defendant tried to convince the court that he confessed to a robbery he didn’t commit to play an April Fool’s joke on the police. What was the name of this clever fellow?

Go to LexisAdvance:

“Haha! April Fool’s!” isn’t a legal defense...

In Missouri in 1986, a defendant tried to convince the court that he confessed to a robbery he didn’t commit to play an April Fool’s joke on the police. What was the name of this clever fellow?

Go to LexisAdvance:

a) Set your search tabs to All Content Types – Start in Cases, Missouri, and All Practice Areas and Topics

“Haha! April Fool’s!” isn’t a legal defense...

In Missouri in 1986, a defendant tried to convince the court that he confessed to a robbery he didn’t commit to play an April Fool’s joke on the police. What was the name of this clever fellow?

Go to LexisAdvance:

- a) Set your search tabs to All Content Types – Start in Cases, Missouri, and All Practice Areas and Topics
- b) Type April Fool’s joke into the search field

“Haha! April Fool’s!” isn’t a legal defense...

In Missouri in 1986, a defendant tried to convince the court that he confessed to a robbery he didn’t commit to play an April Fool’s joke on the police. What was the name of this clever fellow?

Go to LexisAdvance:

- a) Set your search tabs to All Content Types – Start in Cases, Missouri, and All Practice Areas and Topics
- b) Type April Fool’s joke into the search field
- c) Open the first document - State v. Hicks, 755 S.W.2d 242 (1988)

A prank of Faustian proportions...

On April 1, 2010, a U.K. online video game company changed its Terms of Service to indicate that any customer who placed an order that day granted the company a non-transferable, perpetual option “to claim, for now and forever more, your immortal soul.” Those who objected to this term were directed to click a link to nullify the provision and be awarded a $5 voucher code, an option exercised by less than 10% of customers. Attorney Ryan J. Black wrote about the joke and the enforceability of standard form contracts in Bloomberg BNA’s Electronic Commerce and Law Report. What is the name of his article?

A prank of Faustian proportions...

On April 1, 2010, a U.K. online video game company changed its Terms of Service to indicate that any customer who placed an order that day granted the company a non-transferable, perpetual option “to claim, for now and forever more, your immortal soul.” Those who objected to this term were directed to click a link to nullify the provision and be awarded a $5 voucher code, an option exercised by less than 10% of customers. Attorney Ryan J. Black wrote about the joke and the enforceability of standard form contracts in Bloomberg BNA’s Electronic Commerce and Law Report. What is the name of his article?

Go to the Library’s Electronic Resources list at <http://libguides.nyls.edu/eresources/>

A prank of Faustian proportions...

On April 1, 2010, a U.K. online video game company changed its Terms of Service to indicate that any customer who placed an order that day granted the company a non-transferable, perpetual option “to claim, for now and forever more, your immortal soul.” Those who objected to this term were directed to click a link to nullify the provision and be awarded a $5 voucher code, an option exercised by less than 10% of customers. Attorney Ryan J. Black wrote about the joke and the enforceability of standard form contracts in Bloomberg BNA’s Electronic Commerce and Law Report. What is the name of his article?

Go to the Library’s Electronic Resources list at <http://libguides.nyls.edu/eresources/>

a) Under A to Z List of Resources, click on the letter B to jump to that section of the alphabet

A prank of Faustian proportions...

On April 1, 2010, a U.K. online video game company changed its Terms of Service to indicate that any customer who placed an order that day granted the company a non-transferable, perpetual option “to claim, for now and forever more, your immortal soul.” Those who objected to this term were directed to click a link to nullify the provision and be awarded a $5 voucher code, an option exercised by less than 10% of customers. Attorney Ryan J. Black wrote about the joke and the enforceability of standard form contracts in Bloomberg BNA's Electronic Commerce and Law Report. What is the name of his article?

Go to the Library's Electronic Resources list at <http://libguides.nyls.edu/eresources/>

- a) Under A to Z List of Resources, click on the letter B to jump to that section of the alphabet
- b) Click on Electronic Commerce and Law Report

c) To the right of the source's title, underneath the search bar, click Advanced Search

c) To the right of the source's title, underneath the search bar, click Advanced Search

d) Click the drop-down box at Choose Field and select Author

- c) To the right of the source's title, underneath the search bar, click Advanced Search
- d) Click the drop-down box at Choose Field and select Author
- e) Enter Black, Ryan J. and click Add to Search, then Search

To err is human; to forgive is not company policy.

To err is human; to forgive is not company policy.

On April 1, 2011 the human relations consulting firm SharedXpertise published a joke press release on its website announcing it had acquired a competitor, LRP Publications. LRP didn't find it very funny. On April 15 an LRP consultant brought a federal lawsuit against SharedXpertise claiming the fake press release diverted LRP's upcoming conference attendance towards SharedXpertise's competing event. What was the name of the plaintiff?

To err is human; to forgive is not company policy.

On April 1, 2011 the human relations consulting firm SharedXpertise published a joke press release on its website announcing it had acquired a competitor, LRP Publications. LRP didn't find it very funny. On April 15 an LRP consultant brought a federal lawsuit against SharedXpertise claiming the fake press release diverted LRP's upcoming conference attendance towards SharedXpertise's competing event. What was the name of the plaintiff?

Go to BloombergLaw. Need a password? Click here.

To err is human; to forgive is not company policy.

On April 1, 2011 the human relations consulting firm SharedXpertise published a joke press release on its website announcing it had acquired a competitor, LRP Publications. LRP didn't find it very funny. On April 15 an LRP consultant brought a federal lawsuit against SharedXpertise claiming the fake press release diverted LRP's upcoming conference attendance towards SharedXpertise's competing event. What was the name of the plaintiff?

Go to BloombergLaw. Need a password? Click here.

a) Select Litigation & Dockets, then Search Dockets

To err is human; to forgive is not company policy.

On April 1, 2011 the human relations consulting firm SharedXpertise published a joke press release on its website announcing it had acquired a competitor, LRP Publications. LRP didn't find it very funny. On April 15 an LRP consultant brought a federal lawsuit against SharedXpertise claiming the fake press release diverted LRP's upcoming conference attendance towards SharedXpertise's competing event. What was the name of the plaintiff?

Go to BloombergLaw. Need a password? Click here.

- a) Select Litigation & Dockets, then Search Dockets
- b) Under Party Options, enter SharedXpertise in the Name field

To err is human; to forgive is not company policy.

On April 1, 2011 the human relations consulting firm SharedXpertise published a joke press release on its website announcing it had acquired a competitor, LRP Publications. LRP didn't find it very funny. On April 15 an LRP consultant brought a federal lawsuit against SharedXpertise claiming the fake press release diverted LRP's upcoming conference attendance towards SharedXpertise's competing event. What was the name of the plaintiff?

Go to BloombergLaw. Need a password? Click here.

- a) Select Litigation & Dockets, then Search Dockets
- b) Under Party Options, enter SharedXpertise in the Name field
- c) Scroll down and click Search

This one actually wasn't a joke :(

April Fool's
Day

This one actually wasn't a joke :(

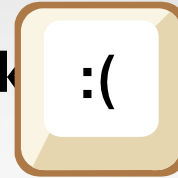

On April 1, 2011, the House of Representatives passed a bill stating that if the Senate did not pass an appropriations measure for the remainder of the 2011 fiscal year by April 6, the House's bill on the matter (named H.R. 1) would be automatically enacted. The proposed short title was Government Shutdown Prevention Act of 2011; what was the name of the bill?

April Fool's
Day

This one actually wasn't a joke :(

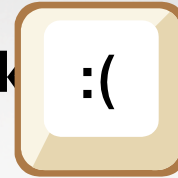

On April 1, 2011, the House of Representatives passed a bill stating that if the Senate did not pass an appropriations measure for the remainder of the 2011 fiscal year by April 6, the House's bill on the matter (named H.R. 1) would be automatically enacted. The proposed short title was Government Shutdown Prevention Act of 2011; what was the name of the bill?

On the Library's webpage, go to DRAGNET:

April Fool's
Day

This one actually wasn't a joke :(

On April 1, 2011, the House of Representatives passed a bill stating that if the Senate did not pass an appropriations measure for the remainder of the 2011 fiscal year by April 6, the House's bill on the matter (named H.R. 1) would be automatically enacted. The proposed short title was Government Shutdown Prevention Act of 2011; what was the name of the bill?

On the Library's webpage, go to DRAGNET:

a) In the search bar, type Government Shutdown Prevention Act of 2011

April Fool's
Day

Tuesday, March 19, 13

H.G. Wells would not be amused...

H.G. Wells would not be amused...

In 1991, the Federal Communications Commission (FCC) published a Notice of Proposed Rule Making in the Federal Register that would allow the FCC to fine radio stations for broadcasting “harmful hoaxes” such as on April Fool’s Day. When was this notice published?

H.G. Wells would not be amused...

In 1991, the Federal Communications Commission (FCC) published a Notice of Proposed Rule Making in the Federal Register that would allow the FCC to fine radio stations for broadcasting “harmful hoaxes” such as on April Fool’s Day. When was this notice published?

Go to WestlawNext:

H.G. Wells would not be amused...

In 1991, the Federal Communications Commission (FCC) published a Notice of Proposed Rule Making in the Federal Register that would allow the FCC to fine radio stations for broadcasting “harmful hoaxes” such as on April Fool’s Day. When was this notice published?

Go to WestlawNext:

a) Select Federal Materials

H.G. Wells would not be amused...

In 1991, the Federal Communications Commission (FCC) published a Notice of Proposed Rule Making in the Federal Register that would allow the FCC to fine radio stations for broadcasting “harmful hoaxes” such as on April Fool’s Day. When was this notice published?

Go to WestlawNext:

a) Select Federal Materials

b) Select Federal Register and type April Fool’s Day hoax