Question No. 6

In 1992, an Ohio appellate court ruled that a dissatisfied former husband could not sue his former brother-in-law, who had advertised his sister for a negotiated marriage, for fraudulent inducement and intentional infliction of emotional distress based on alleged undisclosed "defects" in the sister. The court relied in part on Ohio's Married Woman's Act of 1887. What was the name of the judge who wrote the court's opinion?

1. Sign on to WestlawEdge.

2. From the Browse menu, click on the State Materials tab.

3. Select Ohio.

4. Under "Cases" select All Ohio State Cases.

5. In the search bar type: Married Woman's Act

6. Change the sort by dropdown to date
